

John Glenn Clark, M.D is a graduate of Loma Linda University School of Medicine and began his practice as an orthopedic surgeon. Over the next several years he began to realize that most of his surgeries would have been unnecessary if his patients had just made some simple changes in their lifestyles. In 2006, Dr. Clark decided to throw all his energies into full time, faith based, health education seminars. Dr. Clark shares his knowledge on the causes of many common lifestyle diseases from which many people suffer, and offers practical tips on how to take advantage of the Lord's health-giving remedies to prevent, and even reverse, these debilitating conditions. You deserve good health, and it's within your reach when you follow simple, natural, health-restoring principles you will learn at these seminars.
